Rev. Mr. Bigger Arrives.

Rev. R. R. Bigger, who has been called to the Third Presbyterian church of this city, to the pulpit made vacant by the removal of Rev. Mr. Alford to Philadelphia, will begin his ministry on next Sunday morning. The congregation will tender him a public reception in the church on next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Bigger for the next two months will reside at 3330 Eoff street until he secures a permanent residence.

Transfers Recorded.

Clark Hook yesterday admitted to record transfers of real estate as follows:

January 24, by Hannah Ziegler and others to F. E. Ziegler, for $2,000, the south part of Coal lot 1 in Sprigg &

Ritchie's addition.

January 24, by Hannah Ziegler and others to Elizabeth Colmar and others, for $4,000, a tract of land containing 60 acres, 3 roads and 7 perches on McKin-ley's run.

January 24, by Hannah Ziegler to Mary, wife of Frederick Fox, for $1,050, six acres and 32 poles of land on the south fork of Caldwell's run.

In the Three Courts.

In the circuit court yesterday the damages suit of Edward Newton, jr., vs.

the Citizens' Railway Company was finished and the jury brought in a verdict in favor of Newton for $153.

In the matter of the inquiry into the sanity of Mollie Heinrich, the jury declared her to be sane, and her committee, Sheriff Franzheim, was directed to return her her money, and she was released in person from the custody of her committee and her mother.

The criminal court, Judge Huger, was not in session.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

The East End Athletic Association entertained last evening at their hospitable home on Eighteenth street. All the members and many friends were present and a very jolly time was had.

Couriers brought the election returns in from different precincts of the Third and Fourth wards late in the evening and this made things lively and kept up the interest until the early hours this morning. Excellent music was furnished by the Twilight Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club of the organization. The East End Athletic Association are certainly in the "swim."

Bartholomew's Horses.

Of the Equine Paradox, to be seen at the Grand next week, the New York

Clipper says: Bartholomew's Equine Paradox opened the summer season at the Academy of Music, afternoon of June 8, and on the evening of that date a very large and enthusiastic audience witnessed the performance of the animals composing this singular attraction.

The school room scenes, the musical features, rolling of barrels, Jean-frog, exercises, etc., caused boisterous applause from the audience, and the spirited work of all the animals in the battle scene was never done to better advantage.

A NEW BRIDGE

Between Steubenville and West Virginia.

An Important Traffic Event.

Representatives for an eastern bridge company have secured options on both sides of the river at Steubenville, O., for a bridge between that city and West Virginia.

The bridge if built for travel will be of immense importance to this city in the way of business. The property secured on the Ohio side is along the first bench of the river bank, and will carry the bridge to the level of the second bench. It was hinted that in connection with the proposed new trunk line from east to west, should the Valley railroad be acquired by the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, the proposed bridge was to be used by the Wheeling & Lake Erie, as they have a right of way across lots from Alley A, Steubenville, along which their road runs to the street which forms the second bench of the river bank. The bridge will be built this summer.

The options on the Steubenville side include a block of residence lots between Market and Adams streets and the long looked for and talked of bridge is now a sure go. A bridge for both railroad and passenger travel purposes will be constructed.

In Olden Times

people overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well informed people will not buy any other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

A FINE HOUSE BURNED.

Mr. J. C. Brady's Country Residence Destroyed.

IT HAD NOT YET BEEN COMPLETED.

The Contractor had Insurance on it, but will Lose Somewhat—Mr. Brady's Only Loss will be the Delay and Inconvenience—The Loss will Reach about $5,000.

The fine new residence of Hon. J. C. Brady, nearing completion at Pleasant Valley, east of the city, was destroyed by fire last evening. The house had been practically completed, only the finishing coat of plaster remaining to be put on. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the contractor, Ed Clator, sent Dennis Gardner out to the house to light a fire in the furnace. He did so, and came back to the city. Not long after fire was discovered in the house, and it was burned to the ground. It was a frame house, of very handsome design, and about $5,000 had been expended on it. It is understood that the contractor had the property insured for a part of its value. It had not been turned over to the owner.

Mr. Brady is at Charleston, attending to his duties as a member of the legislature. A telegram was at once sent to him notifying him of the fire. His only loss will be the delay in getting into his new house and the inconvenience.

MID-WINTER CONCERT

Of Prof. Martin's Pupils, Assisted by Miss Blanche Newcomb, Violinist, of Pittsburgh.

The pupils of Mr. James Stephen Martin gave a concert at the Grand Opera House last evening. It was a family gathering in one sense, and in another the audience was representative of the friends of the family of the performers. The audience was notable for another feature, and that was the quiet and respectful attention it paid to the efforts of the ladies and gentlemen on the programme to entertain them. The various numbers on the programme were rendered, for the most part, with the precision of the school room, and the monotony was varied by a few brief flashes of artistic execution. Being mainly an amateur performance the programme does not come within the pale of technical criticism. The pupils showed great improvement under the instruction of Prof. Martin, but that able teacher would do much toward entertaining his audiences if he would enliven the evening with more popular numbers.

Miss Blanche Newcomb, of Pittsburgh, a finished violinist, gave some very acceptable solos, the audience demanding a repetition. The other favored performers were Misses Henry, Land and Hastings and Mr. Huseman. Misses Mary L. Johnston and Annie Sage were the accompanists.

Prof. Martin has done much toward advancing the vocal culture in this city, and it is pleasant to note that his efforts meet with such cordial encouragement.

BOATS LEAVING TO-DAY.

Ben Hur, Kemple, Parkersburg, 10:30 a. m.

The river reached the top-notch of the rise early yesterday morning, when the marks registered 17 feet 4 inches. Last night it was slowly falling with 16 feet 9 inches in the channel. Weather clear and cold.

The river was filled with some pretty heavy ice yesterday, which impeded navigation considerably. The Liberty got away on time yesterday afternoon, but Captain Booth said he would lie up at Clarington until Monday to await developments. The Charleston continued to run, but rivermen thought the ice too heavy for her to run with complete safety.

The Raymond Horner and Percy Kelsey passed down yesterday in the afternoon with coal. The Ed Roberts, Enterprise and others went up with empties. Both of the boats mentioned had their barges strung out behind in order to cut through the ice. The Ed Roberts divided her tow at Monmsville, before that having tried to make her way up stream with her barges and coal boats in front. Capt. T. J. Wood, of Pittsburgh, her owner, heard of this and telephoned to the captain, Gould, that there is not enough money in the coal business to take such big chances of sinking one or more of the tow. The Roberts took five of the boats up to New Cumberland where they were harbored and returned to Monmsville and took up the others. The Enterprise's string of barges was one of the longest ever seen here—ten in all.
